New resources

We have added more information and links of free online resources about longitudinal research training to our resources page.

Have you heard?

DATAMIND has launched a brand-new glossary tool on their website. Created in collaboration with their Public and Patient Group, the glossary aims to simplify common mental health data science terms to make them easier to understand.

Upcoming events

8 DECEMBER 2023

DATAMIND Industry Forum

A forum that brings together academics, clinicians and industrial partners that use data to tackle poor mental health. Held both in person and online.

Team updates

We updated our email address to:

cataloguemhm@kcl.ac.uk

We said goodbye to Daniel and our honorary team member, Niamh, and welcomed our placement research assistants for the 2023-24 academic year, Maria Jose Pinzon Rodriguez from Cardiff University and Hannah Lewis from Loughborough University. We are thrilled that they have joined and are working with us!
